A group of Manotick drug pushers got kids to steal from homes in return for a hit of the highly addictive drug Fentanyl, police said Thursday.

"Some intelligence info told us people were hiring kids to commit break-ins and they would get Fentanyl for what they had stolen," said Staff Sgt. Kal Ghadban of the Ottawa police's break-and-enter unit.

Last November, Ghadban said, a youth charged with 21 break-and-enters admitted to using Fentanyl. "They were trying to get money for their addiction. We don't know how widespread it is. It's hard to know.

A hundred times more potent than morphine and far more addictive, the drug has already claimed the life of one Ottawa teen, Manotick's Tyler

"It's very, very lethal and kids don't realize it."

Joan Leadbeater-Graham, addiction centre worker

Campbell, 17, who died Aug. 4 after an overdose.

"He had been using it, but he wasn't an addict," said Ghadban. "He was a casual user."

Even one hit can be enough to kill, said Joan Leadbeater-Graham, who oversees addiction centre Rideauwood's school-based teen-substanceabuse program, noting the drug started appearing in schools last September

"It's very, very lethal and kids don't realize it," she said of the painkiller. "They seem to not have that information."

The drug slows the respiratory system, and a strong dosage can cause asphyxiation.

"Fentanyl is a patch and is meant to be released in small and manageable doses," Lead-beater-Graham said. "The way it's being used is that the patch is being taken apart and freebased or diluted and injected."

Since the drug isn't evenly distributed through the patch, it's risky whether users will get a highly concentrated dose.

Ăt a meeting in Manotick Wednesday night, Leadbeater-Graham and other officials worked to educate the community about the signs and symptoms of Fentanyl use and abuse. Pinpoint pupils, slurred speech and fatigue, as well as burned tin foil and used needles, should prompt parents to contact Rideauwood drug counsellors who work in 48 Ottawa

"Fentanyl is one of those drugs that leaves a profound effect on the brain," said Lead-beater-Graham. "We would all find ourselves dependent very quickly if we were on it for any period of time."

She urged concerned parents to contact the Centre for Addictions and Mental Health, Royal Ottawa Hospital or Rideauwood for advice.

Friends mourn death of man who went missing

Underway. Police launch homicide investigation after finding Fouad Nayel's body in Calabogie

LOFARO

Friends of an Ottawa man who went missing in June are mourning his death after Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) confirmed his body was the one found in a wooded area in Calabogie on Sunday.

Fouad Nayel, 28, went missing nearly five months ago when his family noticed he hadn't shown up for dinner on June 17 — Father's Day — after a trip to Petawawa earlier that day.

The OPP said a passerby found a body Sunday near Norton Road in Greater Madawaska Township.

The body was decomposed to such a point that investigators initially couldn't tell whether it was male or female, according to police.

A post-mortem in Toron-to Wednesday determined the human remains were that of Nayel. An OPP homicide investigation is now underway.

Several friends expressed their condolences on Facebook Thursday. Andre Esteves, a friend of Nayel's for 11 years, said the family is reeling from the

A woman who answered the phone at the home Thursday afternoon said the family did not want to comment

"I feel a lot better knowing he went to a better place rather than us sitting here worried something's hap-pened to him or he's somewhere and we don't know where he is," said Esteves. 'That was the hardest part.'

Nayel was a genuine person, Esteves said, who was always there whenever he needed someone to talk to.

"He would do anything for anybody and he was just a different guy in general between all my friends," he said. "A very loving person."

Esteves was one of many friends and family members who drove from Ottawa to

Calabogie in search of Nayel on suspicions he might be

He said he drove down the same street where the body was found.

On the same day the OPP found the body, Esteves said he returned home from a trip to Mexico after staying in the same room the two had shared when they both vacationed there in 2009. It is a trip Esteves cherishes.

He said he went back to Mexico this month as a way of remembering his missing

'My mom was telling me, 'Maybe that just means that he wanted to go on this one last trip with you to Mexico before, you know, every-thing came to an end," he said. "It's a good way to think about it.

Anyone with informa-tion about the investigation is asked to contact the Renfrew OPP Crime Unit at 613-432-3211 or the OPP at 1-888-310-1122. Those who wish to remain anonymous can call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS). Callers may be eligible to receive a cash reward of up to

OLG revenue deal needs clarification: Mayor

Ottawa Mayor Jim Watson thinks there was an element of "he said, she said" in the apparent miscommunication over a new revenue-sharing agreement with Ontario Lottery and Gaming (OLG).

Watson's office has asked for written clarification from OLG concerning whether the revenue-sharing agreement approved by council on Wednesday will apply to a new casino, should council approve

"The notion that the OLG has said, 'That's it, basically take it or leave it' - that's fine, that's their bargaining position," Watson told reporters Thursday. "And I happen to have a position that I want to see us make sure that we're not going to lose any money and we're actually going to gain some to help offset some

Watson would not get into specifics on what that position is — whether he wants to table games included in the agreement, or whether the current funding agreement would be acceptable.

In the deal approved Wednesday, Ottawa will see an additional $1.3 million flow into city coffers from the slot machines at the Rideau Carleton Raceway. When some councillors worried approving the deal would tie the city's hands in negotiating revenue sharing for a new casino, Watson and city manager Kent Kirkpatrick assured them a new casino meant a new agreement. OLG later denied that claim.

Watson, citing the difference between the agreement and the funding formula, said he was right on that front.

"What I kept being asked about is 'Will there be a new agreement?' Yes there will be a new agreement. Is there going to be a new funding formula? OLG says there isn't," said Mayor Watson, conceding that the bulk of the six-page agreement was the funding formula.

"Whether we're going to get another (funding formula) deal or not ultimately will be determined in the negotia-

OLG spokesman Tony Bitonti said Wednesday that the only city that will see a new agreement negotiated will be Toronto, where council is considering a resort component to their casino.

Trip down memory lane yields tale of (toy) pistol-packing mayor

To mark the 50th anniversary of one of the province's largest wastewater-treatment facilities, city councillors on Thursday pried open a time capsule buried in 1962 at the Robert O. Pickard Environmental Centre in east Ottawa.

Maria McRae, chair of the city's environmental committee, and Coun. Tim Tierney (Beaconhill-Cyrville) showed invited guests a sampling of newspapers and coins from the era.

"It's exciting to imagine that 50 years ago people were thinking about us and what we would think when we open their time capsule," McRae said.

She said she was stunned by the headline of the day on a copy of the Ottawa Citizen, which described how thenmayor Charlotte Whitton brought a toy pistol to city hall.

Among other items pulled from the capsule were copies of Le Droit, council minutes and the Ottawa Journal the Ottawa Journal.

While the collection and treatment centre was lauded at the event, McRae acknowledged more work needs to be done to treat the city's water.

From old military base to urban design lab

CFB Rockcliffe.

Development is on again, but project will be smaller in scale than first planned

GRAHAM LANKTREE graham.lanktree@metronews

A section of Ottawa used to train Canada's Second World War flying aces may soon become a lab to create an innovative new community. Don Schultz, director of Don Schultz, director of real estate for the Rockcliffe property at Canada Lands Co., could hardly contain his excitement recently as he described the wooded half square mile near downtown Ottawa that was once Canadian Forces Base Rockcliffe.

"It's a unique opportunity because of the location and size of the site," he said of the plot 5.5 kilometres from the city core. "We have tended to explore walkable neighbourhoods, mixed-use buildings, energy efficiency and integration of open space with the urban fabric," Schultz said of past CLC projects such as Garrison Crossing in Chilliwack, B.C., and Calgary's Garrison Woods. "We have a proven track record of innovation."

The redevelopment of Garrison Woods, started in 1998, has won numerous accolades, including the Grand SAM Award from the Canadian Home Builders Association. "We're not afraid of contemporary design such as LEED standards," Schultz said, referring to the international green building standard.

In 2005, CLC planned for more than 11,000 homes on the Rockcliffe site, but because of the recession and a cut to plans for an LRT route along Montreal Road, "we're thinking half that," Schultz said, noting large condo towers aren't part of the plan.

A good number of buildings will have street-level businesses, with apartments above. "It's close to Montfort Hospital and there are opportunities for medical-service businesses," he said.

And many of the community's street names will honour the Algonquin First Nation, which, in 2011, settled a land claim on the property with the federal government for $10 million.

CLC will host an open house on the project at the Canada Aviation and Space Museum on Nov. 26 from 3 till 9 p.m. Presentations begin at 4 and 7 p.m.

Mayors push for more infrastructure funding

Eight cents on the tax dollar is not enough for Canada's largest cities to meet their infrastructure demands, according to several mayors.

Municipal leaders from Canada's largest urban centres renewed their call for increased federal infrastruc-ture funding in Ottawa on Thursday. They, along with the Federation of Canadian Municipalities, want a 20year long-term infrastruc-ture plan with a $5.75-billion annual commitment from municipal leaders and the FCM want from the federal government.

rs from Canada's largest cities join Ottawa Mayor Jim Watson, centre, ing for increased federal funding for infrastructure repairs.

"The long-term infrastructure plan is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to put our cities and our economy on solid ground," said Ottawa Mayor Jim Watson Thursday.

Calgary Mayor Naheed Nenshi went further, suggesting the share of tax revenues between the federal, provincial and municipal governments constitutes the real fiscal imbalance in Canada."

"The municipalities are expected to deliver the bulk of services that keep Canadians happy, healthy and safe every day," Nenshi said. Yet only eight cents of the tax dollar ... goes to municipalities."

The FCM estimates a $5.75-billion annual commitment from the federal government would leverage approximately $7.5 billion in provincial, territorial and municipal investments.

That money is needed, the mayors argue, to address the "crumbling" infrastructure dotting the landscape of Canada's cities and towns.

The federal government, however, is talking more about the need for fiscal control than another round of infrastructure stimulus spending.

Vodou dispels oldschool view of voodoo

Misunderstood. New exhibit explores true nature of the religion as practised in Haiti

ROSANNA HAROUTOUNIAN

Voodoo often conjures up an image of a doll with pins in it. But a new exhibit at the Museum of Civilization aims to show visitors that Hollywood's image of voodoo and the experiences of people who practise vodou are quite different.

"It's a religion as rich and as profound as any in the world," said Dr. Mauro Peressini, one of three curators who created the exhibit. "This exhibit gives the opportunity to vodouists to give their point of view of their own spirituality and history and for the visitor to have the opportunity to listen to

The exhibit focuses on the vodou of Haiti. Peressini said vodou was brought to Haiti from Africa through the slave trade and mixed with indigenous traditions and Christianity.

Practicing vodou was a way for Haiti's first people to resist colonization, which led to its persecution and caricaturizing, said Peressini.

"When Americans occupied Haiti, they very soon saw that rebellions against their occupation came from vodou secret societies," said Peressini. The exhibit features over 300 objects, mostly from a larger collection gathered by Marianne Lehmann, a Swissborn Haitian citizen. Lehmann bought the objects from Haitians who sold them to make

Other pieces were gathered in Canada, like film footage of a vodou ceremony in Mont-real. During the ceremony, participants are possessed by lwas, vodou spirits.

'Possession is good for vodouists because it means the lwa has taken your body in order to communicate with the other participants," said Peressini.

The exhibit will be on display until February 23, 2014.

Civic contributors. 15 outstanding citizens to be honoured with Order of Ottawa

An organ-donation crusader from Barrhaven, a longtime Westboro restaurateur and Algonquin College's outgoing president are among 15 residents who will be inducted into the Order of Ottawa.

Mayor Jim Watson made the announcement Thursday morning on Twitter, which was followed by a news release stating the Order of Ottawa ceremony will be held Nov. 22 at city hall.

Double-lung-transplant recipient Hélène Campbell, Moe Atallah of Newport Restaurant and Algonquin's Robert Gillett will be formally inducted alongside other Ottawa notables.

They are: Dr. John Bell, Paul Benoit, Jim Durrell, Allison Fisher, Marc Jolicoeur, Terry Kelly, Russell Mills, Diane Morrison, Nazira Naz Tareen, Gisèle Richer, Christine Tremblay and Sara Vered.

"The Order of Ottawa enables us to recognize outstanding residents and meritorious service within our city," said Watson in the release.

"These remarkable individuals have made a difference to countless people in our community, and make our city the special place it is." The honour celebrates individuals who have made contributions to city life in fields such as arts and culture, education, and entertainment.

The city said Don Campbell will also be presented with the Brian Kilrea Award, which recognizes the contribution of an amateur coach who best exemplifies the qualities of leadership and commitment. METRO

Trendr app gives young entrepreneurs, angel investors new way to connect

Building business relationships. Users sian in with LinkedIn and can send meeting requests based on their availability

A social-media app to connect entrepreneurs and business people will help Ottawa's young up-and-coming business heads meet angel investors when it debuts at this Saturday's Legacy Conference.

"A conference is a convenient place to start using Trendr," said the app's found-er, Michael Beddows. "People use their LinkedIn account to access the platform. You'll begin to see other people around you and summaries of their profile."

A new report says that over the last five years, the number of doctors in Canada has increased at a rate three times faster than that of the population.

The Canadian Institute for Health Information says there were more than 72,500 physicians in 2011, a rise of 14 per cent since 2007.

The Canadian population grew 4.7 per cent over the same time period. Nova Scotia, Newfound-

Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Labrador and Quebec had the highest physician-to-population ratios, while Saskatchewan and P.E.I. had the lowest.

In 2011, 51 per cent of Canada's doctors practised family medicine, while 49 per cent were medical and surgical specialists.

The report also found that more doctors are practising in rural Canada compared to five years earlier, including 15 per cent of the country's general practitioners. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Unsolved problems

While rural regions have managed to attract new doctors with a number of programs, many areas are still badly understaffed. Enderby, B.C., will soon have only one doctor for its 3,000 residents. The northern Okanagan community previously had a total of five.

Brazen attacks on Tel Aviv may trigger ground invasion of Gaza

Heaviest fighting in four years. Daily life at a standstill on both sides of the border

Palestinian militants targeted densely populated Tel Aviv in Israel's heartland with rockets for the first time Thursday, part of an unprecedented barrage that threatened to provoke an Israeli ground assault on Gaza. Three Israelis were killed.

Air-raid sirens wailed, and panicked residents ran for cover in Tel Aviv, Israel's commercial and cultural capital. Israel responded by moving troops and heavy weapons toward Gaza and authorizing the call-up of tens of thousands of reservists.

There was no word on where the two rockets aimed at Tel Aviv landed, raising the possibility they fell into the Mediterranean. A third rocket landed in an open area on the southern outskirts of Tel Aviv. Those attacks came after Israel launched a ferocious air assault

A woman photographs Israeli soldiers by an armoured personal carrier close to the Israel-Gaza border in southern Israel on Thursday. Wednesday to stop repeated rocket fire from Gaza. The powerful Hamas military chief was killed in that strike, and another 18 Palestinians have died over two days, including five children.

There were mounting signs of a ground operation. At least 12 trucks were seen transporting tanks and armoured personnel carriers toward Gaza late Thursday. Israeli TV stations said a Gaza incursion was expected on Friday, though military officials said no decision had been made.

"We will increase the attacks, and I believe we will obtain our objectives," said Lt. Gen. Benny Gantz, Israel's military chief.

Hamas, meanwhile, warned it would strike deeper inside Israel with Iranian-made Fajr-5 rockets, acknowledging for the first time it has longer-range Weapons. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

- The White House says the U.S. strongly condemns the barrage of rocket fire from Gaza into Israel. Spokesman Jay Carney says there is "no justification" for the violence perpetrated by Hamas and other terrorist organizations.
- Egypt's Islamist president Mohammed Morsi. whose party is an ally of Gaza's Hamas rulers, recalled Egypt's ambas-sador to Israel in protest and on Thursday ordered his prime minister to head to the tiny Palestinian territory in solidarity.
- Iran is another close ally of Hamas rulers. Foreign Ministry spokesman Ramin Mehmanparast was quoted as calling the Israeli bombardment of Gaza "organized terrorism."

FBI agent in Petraeus case has ties to Canada

Canadian connection.

French education helped Humphries make 1999 arrest of Montreal-based al-Qaida member

There's now a Canadian connection to the David Petraeus sex scandal following revelations that the FBI agent who helped uncover the disgraced CIA director's extra-marital affair went to high school in Canada and played a key role in the infamous Ahmed Ressam case 13 years ago.

Frederick Humphries, one of the key players in the tawdry unravelling of Petraeus's once-storied career, set the wheels in motion for the general's downfall after he agreed last spring to investigate anonymous emails sent to a friend in Tampa, socialite Jill Kelley. That probe revealed Petraeus's affair with Paula Broadwell, who was behind the harassing emails to Kelley, a woman she viewed as a rival for the four-star general's affections.

Humphries, 47, a counterterrorism specialist at the FBI, was born in the Washington state community of Steilacoom but attended high school somewhere in Ontario. His mother and stepfather live in Illinois.

He reportedly learned French in the Canadian school system, a skill that helped him nab Ressam, who claimed to be a Montrealer in 1999 as he attempted to sneak across the Canada-U.S. border to blow up the Los Angeles airport in a thwarted millennium attack.

Ressam, an Algerian al-Qaida member who lived in Montreal, was apprehended with explosives in the trunk of his car on a Canadian ferry to the U.S. and claimed only to speak French. But while reading Ressam his rights in the language, Humphries immediately knew he was not Quebecois, detecting an Algerian accent instead. Before long, investigators discovered Ressam was using false ID and had charged him with plotting what would have been a deadly attack on one of the busiest airports in the U.S.

New leader. Xi addresses China's social services and global power

Long-anointed successor Xi Jinping assumes the leadership of China at a time when the ruling Communist Party is confronting slower economic growth, a public clamour to end corruption and demands for change that threaten its hold on power.

The country's political elite named Xi to the top party post on Thursday and unexpectedly put him in charge of the military too, after a weeklong party congress and months of divisive bargaining. The appointments give him broad authority but not the luxury of time. After decades of juggernaut growth, China sits on the cusp of global pre-eminence as the second-largest economy and newest power, but it also has urgent domestic troubles that could frustrate its rise.

In his first address to the nation, Xi, a 59-year-old son of a revolutionary hero, acknowledged the lengthy agenda for what should be the first of two five-year terms in office. He promised to deliver better social services while making sure China stands tall in the world and the party continues to rule.

Politicking. U.S. atheists sue IRS over church groups' electioneering

A U.S. group representing atheists and agnostics has filed a federal lawsuit arguing that the Internal Revenue Service is violating the constitution by allowing tax-exempt churches and religious organizations to get involved in political campaigns.

The Freedom from Religion Foundation argues that churches and religious organizations have become more involved in political campaigns, "blatantly and deliberately flaunting the electioneering restrictions."

Romney blames Obama's win on 'gifts' to minorities

Sore loser? Former presidential hopeful claims a superb campaign, while top Republicans point out several missteps

Former Republican presidential challenger Mitt Romney says President Barack Obama won re-election last week because of the "gifts" Obama had provided to blacks, Hispanics and young voters and because of his effort to paint Romney as anti-immigrant.

Romney said his campaign, in contrast, had been about "big issues for the whole country."

White House press secretary Jay Carney disputed Romney's assessment Thursday, telling reporters travelling with Obama aboard Air Force One that policies allowing more young people to go to college or stay on their parents' health plans are good for all Americans and the economy as a whole.

Romney also didn't acknowledge any major missteps and said his team had run a superb campaign.

By contrast, many Republicans are questioning their strategy after Obama's strong win, with some saying they must reach out to Hispanics and others as their core demographic, aging white males, shrinks. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winnipeg drawn into 'Earth's rectum' debate

Stephen Colbert. Comedian says Canucks are 'ootraged' by his comments

LUKE SIMCOE

luke.simcoe@metronews.ca

No longer content to slag the city in print, Stephen Colbert has taken his disdain for Windsor, Ont., to the airwaves, and this time he's drawn in Winnipeg as well.

During Wednesday's broadcast of The Colbert Report, the political comedian said the "Maple-stream media" had taken offence to a passage in his latest book that suggests Windsor could be the Earth's rectum.

"Folks in Canada are 'ootraged," Colbert said.

Colbert defended his book and said he was just asking

"probing" questions. He also dragged Winnipeg into the controversy. "Could the Earth's rectum be Windsor? I don't know, it could just as easily be Winnipeg," he said.

Referring to a CBC poll, Colbert said being known as "the Earth's rectum is an improvement over Windsor's previous reputation."

Colbert's comments

sparked a social-media campaign aimed at getting the comedian to visit the city. A Let's Get Stephen Colbert to Windsor Facebook page was created shortly after the show ended.

But by mid-morning Thursday, the page had only 84 likes, suggesting that feelings between Rose City residents and Colbert are mutual.

Obama views Superstorm Sandy's devastation in N.Y.C.

Superstorm aftermath.

President sees wreckage more than two weeks after the storm ripped through the region

President Barack Obama vowed Thursday to stick with New Yorkers still struggling 17 days after Superstorm Sandy "until the rebuilding is complete" after getting an up-close look at devastated neighbourhoods rendered unlivable.

Obama brought the spotlight to people still living without heat or electricity and hugged many of those trying to rebuild their lives. He also delivered a post-election message of unity, nine days after a closely divided America gave him a second term.

"We're reminded that we are bound together and we have to look out for each other," Obama said from a block in Staten Island that was demolished by the storm. "The petty differences melt away." Obama announced that Housing and Urban Development Secretary Shaun Donovan, former chief of New York's Housing Authority, will be his point person to oversee long-term rebuilding in the region.

The president encountered many still suffering in Sandy's aftermath, waiting in lines for food, supplies and other help. He also met privately with parents who experienced the most unthinkable tragedy — the loss of their young boys, Brandon and Connor Moore, who were swept away in the storm. Damien and Glenda Moore's sons were among more than 100 people who lost their lives because of the powerful storm.

"Obviously I expressed to them as a father, as a parent, my heartbreak over what they went through," Obama said. He said the Moores were "still a little shell-shocked" but wanted to thank the New York City police lieutenant who stayed with them and supported them until their boys' bodies were found.

BP to pay record $4.5B over Gulf oil disaster

New Orleans. As part of settlement, firm will plead quilty on charges related to worker deaths and lying to Congress

A day of reckoning arrived for BP on Thursday as the oil giant agreed to plead guilty to a raft of criminal charges and pay a record $4.5 billion US in a settlement with the U.S. government over the deadly 2010 disaster in the Gulf of Mexico. Three BP employees were also charged, two of them with manslaughter.

The settlement and the indictments came 2 1/2 years after the drilling-rig explosion that killed 11 workers and set off the biggest offshore oil spill in U.S. history.

The settlement includes nearly $1.3 billion in fines — the biggest criminal penalty in U.S. history — along with payments to entities inside and outside government. As part of the deal, the BP will plead guilty to charges related to the deaths of the 11 workers and to lying to Congress.

"We believe this resolution is in the best interest of BP and its shareholders," said Carl-Henric Svanberg, BP chairman. "It removes two significant legal risks and allows us to vigorously defend the company against the remaining civil claims."

Also, BP rig workers Rob-

Star Wars action figures are joining centuries-old dominoes in the U.S. National Toy Hall of Fame's class of 2012, announced Thursday.

Star Wars action figures went on the market after the 1977 release of the classic movie. The figures of Han Solo, Chewbacca, R2-D2 and others were sold until 1985 and again from the mid-1990s to today.

officials said Museum their phenomenal popularity inspired other toy makers to tie their products to mov-

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Going out with a fang

Breaking Dawn -Part 2. In this Reel Guys, Liz Brown, a TwiHard, helps skeptic Richard Crouse understand the final installment

Richard: Liz, this is it... or is it just the beginning of Edward and Bella's immortal romance? I don't know. All I know is the film franchise is over and it goes out with probably the most enjoyable movie of the bunch. It's out with the angst, and in with a newfound sense of fun. The previous mov-ies struck me as overly ponderous; this one is actually quite funny, occasionally bordering on camp. And that's OK given that the story of vampire babies and ab-tastic werewolves is rather silly. Tell me, superfan, what did you think?

Liz: Richard, the first step is admitting you have a prob-

– and I do. I fell for the fang when I picked up Christopher Pike's The Last Vampire series in Grade 6. Twilight brought me back to that time — daydreaming about brooding, loner vampires and wishing I had superpowers. It seems in this last installment the franchise has whole-heartedly embraced its camp. I prefer my femmes to lean towards the fatale, so it was nice to see Kristen Stewart finally stop biting her lip and show us her blood-thirsty side.

RC: I agree! Four movies of brooding Bella and Edward's ennui was enough. The sad faces and staring off into space may have captured the pain of teen love, but, if you'll excuse the pun, they also sucked some of the lifeblood from the story. The newlyweds still share eternal love, but now they're having some fun. Edward, if you watch closely, even smiles occasionally. It's a big step from the first installments and, unsurprisingly, it makes for a more fun movie.

LB: I'm sorry Richard, I'm still firmly Team Jacob, so I didn't pay Edward much heed. But I'll agree — the actors are having fun in this final hurrah. The most fun for me? Jacob's semi-nude explanation of the supernatural. Judging from the cheers in the crowd, I'm not the only one who enjoyed it. But I was a little disappointed with the action scenes. I know it's a film for tweens, but couldn't the battles have a bit more style?

RC: I thought I heard you let out a squeal when Laut-ner stripped down. Don't worry. I won't tell anyone. The action scenes are bloodless for the most part. The Walking Dead makes this look like Sesame Street, but I liked the steely look of determination on Dakota Fanning's face throughout. I just hope she wasn't paid by the word for her mostly mute performance.

It can be said that the world can be divided into two groups: Those who like the Twilight movies and those who don't get the vampire romance movies. We look at why fanpires are addicted to this undead love story.

LB: Yes, Fanning's doesn't get too many lines this time out, but overall this film is less talky than the others — and that's a good thing. Lincoln

Director. Steven Spielberg

Stars. Daniel Day-Lewis, Sally Field

• • • •

Lincoln focuses on a short period in Honest Abe's career, zeroing in on the backroom politics that led to the passage of the anti-slavery 13th Amendment through the House of Representatives. The first glimpse of Daniel Day-Lewis as Abraham Lincoln feels like watching a Yankee fivedollar bill come to life. It's a remarkable performance in a movie filled with great acting. Tommy Lee Jones and Sally Field also impress, but it is director Steven Spielberg who really brings this ambitious and important story to life.

RICHARD CROUSE

Comedy/Drama

The Sessions

Director. Ben Lewin

Stars. John Hawkes, Helen Hunt

. . . .

The Sessions should be anything but the jovial, feelgood flick that it is. Based on the real life of Mark O'Brien (played brilliantly by John Hawkes) a quadriplegic poet and writer who hired a surrogate to explore his sexuality, moviegoers may expect murky melodrama. Instead, writer/director Ben Lewin refuses to patronize, gracing the film with a light, matter-of-fact quality. The result is an intelligent, nuanced comedy that reassures audiences of their own relationship to sexuality.

Actors find the silver lining in tough roles

IAN GORMELY

Director David O. Russell is a rare breed of filmmaker whose name transcends the project it's attached to. Mark Wahlberg tried for years to get the Fighter made before Russell got on board — and just try explaining I Heart Huckabees to someone who's never seen it.

So it was with Silver Linings Playbook, the director's latest starring Bradley Cooper and Jennifer Lawrence rence.

"These are the kinds of films I dreamed about making as a kid," says Cooper, who cites Russell's Spanking the Monkey as a favourite of his.

Lawrence says she didn't even read the script before taking the part.

taking the part.
"Then I did and I was glad
I said yes."

After having its world premiere at this year's Toronto International Film Festival the story of a mentally ill teacher trying to put his life back together won the fest's People's Choice Award.

What makes Russell's films so unique, says Lawrence, is his ability to make the audience sympathize with unsympathetic characters.

"He's the only filmmaker who gives audiences a choice not to like people."

not to like people."
Yes Russell has a reputation for being brutal with his actors.

A clip on YouTube called I Don't Heart Huckabees shows the filmmaker verbally berating actress Lily Tomlin on the set for Huckabees.

Russell explains that he likes working with actors who can figure out a scene on the spot.

Lawrence calls working with him "perfection," while Cooper says, "David has a unique ability to get people to go to their core instantaneously."

"The actors gave so much of themselves," says Russell. "We had choices in the editing room. We could have made them so much less likeable."

The rawness of their performances are on the screen. Cooper's character Pat has just been released from a court ordered mental institution and is prone to violent outbursts after moving in with his parents.

Despite a lack of social graces, Pat befriends Tiffany, a widowed sex addict played by Lawrence, who promises to get him in touch with his estranged wife.

Neither character's lives are clean says Russell. In fact they're quite messy, but both share their feelings and tell the truth.

Given the dark subject matter, that the film retains Russell's trademark black humour is a testament to the realness of the characters says Cooper.

"When that starts to hap-

"When that starts to happen it gets funny, it gets tragic — it gets real."

Andre 3000 talks music and trying to humanize Hendrix

Rock star biopic. Actor and musician aimed to find the regular guy inside the legendary quitar icon

In order to capture his best version of Jimi Hendrix for an upcoming biopic, Andre 3000 said he had to think of him as a regular dude and not a rock star.

"I didn't look at him as an icon because when you're in it, you don't know you're an icon. You don't know you're an icon until other people say you're an icon," the 37-year-old said in an interview Tuesday.

"So I had to take it as a person, you know what I mean? And I just tried to say, 'Well, what would Jimi want people to know that they can't get off of YouTube?' And that's how I approached it," he said.

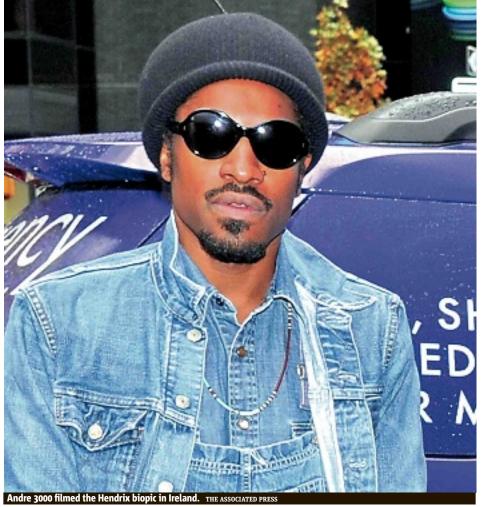

Hendrix died at age 27 in 1970. He was ranked No. 1 on Rolling Stone magazine's greatest guitarists of all-time list. His band, The Jimi Hendrix Experience, is known for iconic albums such as Electric Ladyland and Are You Experi-

All Is by My Side, which focuses on the early days of Hendrix's career, will be released next year. Andre 3000 is excited to see the film, which he's finished shooting in Ireland. He believes the public "will be pleased."

Andre 3000, one-half of OutKast with Big Boi, has been out of the music scene in recent years, although he's been featured on songs by Beyoncé. Frank Ocean, Rick Ross, Ke$ha and Young Jeezy.

OutKast's 2006 platinumselling album, Idlewild, which accompanied a film of the same name starring the duo, was their last album. Their 11time platinum Speakerboxxx/ The Love Below won the 2004 Grammy Award for album of the year.

Big Boi, who released a solo album two years ago to welcoming reviews, will release a new solo disc, Vicious Lies and Dangerous Rumours, next month.

But Andre 3000 isn't in a rush to record an album.

"Some days I feel like I'll do it, some days I don't. Some days I feel like I don't need to, some davs I feel like I want to do it before I die. So, I don't know where to fall. I am just hoping one day I get that inspiration," he said at an event for Gillette's eMO'gency Styler Tour, which supports men's health and prostate cancer programs. The tour kicked off

"It's a feeling for me. I can't just throw out an album to be rapping."

Andre 3000 When asked if he is bringing out a new in New York, with stops scheduled in Chicago and Houston.

"It's a feeling for me. Like, I can't just throw out an album to be rapping," he said. "And I don't even know if it will be rap. I don't even know what it will be."

However, he could find the inspiration and complete an album in just a few days: "It could be a rush situation. Like if I feel that feeling and I record an album in three days and I'm like, 'This is what I want to say right now' - that can happen, too."

He also says he's constantly writing songs.

"I write all the time ... I actually stopped typing it in my phone because like a cloud basically reading every thought that I have and I don't like that," he said. "So I went back to my paper and started writing.'

He's not sure fans want a new OutKast album for the right reasons.

"Man, we've had a great ride. ... Like when we got into it when we were high school kids and we just wanted to do something fun and push it, and if it's not that then why do it?" he said.

"I'm not the type that prescribes to nostalgia, and most people say they want an OutKast album because they used to love it. don't even know if y'all still love it. You just know you used to love it. But you may not like it now, who knows?"

Keira's Karenina flips costume drama on its head with ballet-like production

Period drama.

"...people are either going to love it or absolutely (expletive) hate it...'

Keira Knightley's language was anything but prim and proper when she discovered what director Joe Wright had planned for Anna Karenina, their latest period drama together.

To hear Knightley tell it, some F-bombs were soundly dropped.

Knightley wasn't swearing out of anger with Wright, who directed her to an Academy Award nomination for 2005's Pride & Prejudice and to similar critical success on 2007's Atonement. She worried that Wright's unusual approach to Leo Tolstoy's epic of doomed romance would make the hard-sell of a period drama even harder.

While Pride & Prejudice and Atonement were that finds costume drama drowsy, Wright planned a wild and possibly off-putting ride on Anna Karenina, confining most of the action to a dilapidated theatre where the actors would perform in a stylized cinematic ballet without the usual grand sweep of period-drama locations.

"The first thing I said was 'Oh (expletive)'!' I was like, well, people are really either going to love it or ab-solutely (expletive) hate it," Knightley said. "I also was going ... you're taking it and spinning it on its head and turning it into something that is potentially totally uncommercial. Into an experimental sort of art-house film..."

"I also went '(expletive), yeah. Let's give it a go."'

The result is a fluid story that unfolds as much like dance as film, with a brisk compared to most period stories and contemporary sensibilities next to earlier takes on Anna Karenina, whose previous big-screen adaptations have featured Greta Garbo and Vivien Leigh.

Reality gives way to fan-tasy in the opening moment, as a barber approaches Anna's brother, Ōblonsky (Pride & Prejudice co-star Matthew Macfadyen), like a matador approaching a bull and shaves him clean with three lightning strokes of his razor. Walls roll aside, props rise up from trapdoors, a swirl of clerks in an office turns into a rush of waiters in a restaurant as Wright dispenses with real-in motion.

The action in Moscow and St. Petersburg, where and time-consuming Knightley's Anna forsakes her staid husband (Jude transitions in favour of a motion picture perpetually Law) in an affair with a young cavalry officer Taylor-Johnson), shifts around an aging theatre. The idea was inspired by Wright's reading of historian Orlando Figes, who commented that 19th century Russian socialites mod-eled themselves on Parisians and lived their lives as though on stage, emulating that ideal.

Wright has built a career emulating the ideal of the period drama, once a mainstay for movie audiences now mainly interested in futuristic action or stories of the here and now.

But Wright keeps looking for fresh ways to tell those old stories to modern crowds.

"I feel that the stories themselves are rich and relevant," Wright said. "The concern really is that the form that those stories are told in, it has become kind of stuffy and old-fashioned." But he adds, "just because it's set in the 19th century, it doesn't mean it has to look like it was shot in the 19th century.

One of the first people Wright had to win over on his bold approach to Anna Karenina was playwright Tom Stoppard, an Oscar winner for the Shakespeare in Love screenplay who had adapted Tolstoy's novel with a conventional location shoot in mind.

Two months before production began, Wright decided to switch the action to a confined space and sprang it on Stoppard, saying he would only go ahead if his writer agreed.

"He came around with a big folder of storyboards, and the more I got into it, the more interested and finally excited I was about it," Stoppard said. "It gives the movie a modern spirit, that's what it does. It's not the costume drama we've seen before.'

It's not even the costume drama we've seen before from Wright and Knightley, who defied expectations with Pride & Prejudice and Atonement.

Knightley had just scored with Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl and flopped as Guinevere in King Arthur when Pride & Prejudice came along, while Wright had directed only for television. So they looked like upstarts taking on Jane Austen's best-loved novel.

After that worked, they raised eyebrows again with Atonement, based on Ian McEwan's celebrated novel, which many considered unfilmmable because of its elliptical structure that spans six decades.

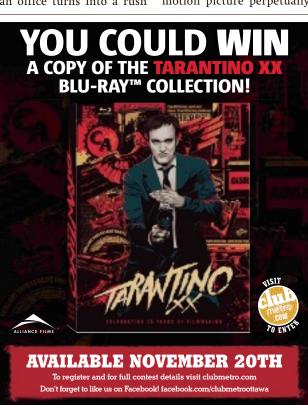

"Then that worked, too," Knightley said. "When we got to Anna Karenina, everyone was like, 'Oh that's great, you'll do that really well.' I think that freaked both of us out. The idea that people thought they knew what we'd do with it was something I don't think any of us felt very comfortable

'There was a general feeling that if we're all going to do this again, then we really need to push ourselves. The idea with this is we were very much walking hand in hand with total, absolute failure all the time ... If it fails, it fails, but at least you know that everybody's put everything into it."

Amy Heckerling: Witnessing 'Vamps' of a different colour

Manhattan blood suckers. Veteran director latest to explore vampire genre

Edward and Bella aren't the only bloodsuckers in town. Veteran director Amy Heckerling, whose teen comedies Fast Times at Ridgemont High and Clueless have become modern classics, tried her hand at the vampire

But it was never her intention to jump on a bandwagon.

"I mean, I wrote this before Twilight came out and I didn't read the books. That was a whole other world I'm not a big fan don't know where they live - out in the northern West Coast kind of area — I'm a city person and I wanted to feel what it would be like to just always stay young, to go to school, to have a parttime job, to have friends, to go out and do the things that I think would be fun to do endlessly."

And so we have Vamps, starring Clueless actress Alicia Silverstone and Don't Trust the B-- in Apartment 23 star Krysten Ritter. The ladies play roommates who look for love in Manhattan while also trying to avoid the urge to suck the blood of their suitors. The rules for how a vampire lives, eats and sleeps are different for each and every story told about them. But when creating her own vampire universe, Heckerling turned to the classics for inspiration.

'What I liked was in Bram Stocker's Dracula," she says. "I feel like he laid out a nice history and set of rules. But then the Anne Rice situation of 'Interview with the Vampire' — the main character did not have to kill people. For me, I think people are sympathetic if you don't kill people. It's just a quirk of mine. I went with [the idea] that they needed warm running blood from a mammal. These girls were trying to be nice and do as little harm as possible."

As for explaining why these fictional creatures have been so popular, Heckerling has a simple, sensible

"I don't find it surprising in the world that where people in their 30s, 40s and 50s [who are] obsessed with extending the 20s forever would be a society that would gravitate to vampires," she says. "How can you really keep it together forever? As far as mythology goes, vampires can!"

Poor driving lands Bieber in hot water

The bad news keeps coming for newly single Justin Bieber.

The Canadian pop star returned to L.A. and within 24 hours found himself pulled over by the sheriff's department for his poor driving skills, according to Hollyscoop.

"He was cited for an unsafe left turn and expired registration," a Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department spokesman says. Bieber is due in court January 14 for Love is all you need

Lindsay Lohan may have pinpointed the source of all her unhappiness. According to the troubled actress, she's never found true love.

"Love is scary and I'm yet to find that one person. Yes, I've been in love with people — maybe one or two — but I haven't really had a true love yet," she tells the Daily Mirror. I love being in love. There's nothing better than that first feeling of being in love, so I look forward to having that at some point."

Banks announces birth of second son

Elizabeth Banks and husband Max Handelman welcomed their second son recently, a baby boy named Magnus Mitchell Handelman, she announced on her website.

"As 2012 winds down and Thanksgiving approaches, I have much for which to be thankful personal, professional, and Presidential. However, nothing can match the joy and excitement my husband and I felt when we recently welcomed our second baby boy," Banks writes. "Magnus ioins older brother Feliz, thus commencing a decade or more of close hand-to-hand combat."

Both of Banks' children were born via gestational surrogate.

Liquid Assets

A wine and pizza union

LIQUID ASSETS

It doesn't matter how you slice it: Canadians love their pizza. Fresh or frozen, baked in a wood-fired brick oven or from a neighbourhood take-out joint, the way we devour it almost makes you think that Italians discovered the Great White

While my quest for that perfect mix of dough, sauce and toppings has taken me everywhere from Naples, Italy to Sydney, Australia, I've discovered that the hunt for the perfect pie really begins at home.

Making a pizzeria style version in your own kitchen isn't rocket science — especially when you keep things simple like a Pizza Margherita: The classic Napoli pie that, with its combo of tomato, mozzarella and basil, was designed to mirror the Italian flag.

As a general rule, your average pizza is pretty vino friendly. Without meaty influences, a lighter, leaner red makes the ideal quaffable match. Bolla's 2011 Valpolicella Classico ($11.95 $15.50) is a perennial by-the-glasser at in-theknow pizza parlours. Its soft, fruity blend of cherry and subtle spice makes as happy a marriage with a Margherita-style pizza as it does with a mainstream. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. with the Cake Boss New cookbook. The TLC star shares 100 of his favourite recipes

IZABELA SZYDLO

Sundays at Buddy Valastro's house are ruled by three f-words: food, family and football. It's a day for the star of TLC's hit show Cake Boss to throw on his New York Giants iersev while his wife. Lisa. whips up tomato sauce.

But the man behind Carlo's Bakery also knows his way around the kitchen — so much so that he has released Cooking Italian with the Cake Boss: Family Favorites As Only Buddy Can Serve Them Up. The 100-recipe book features Italian-American dishes with signature touches that may just expand Valastro's boss reputation to boiling pots of gnocchi.

The book is dedicated to your wife. Who is really the boss in your kitchen?

I gotta give it up to my wife, she is definitely the boss of cooking in my house. I wanted to dedicate a book to her and I'm so happy it's this one because a lot of the recipes are hers, so I feel like I didn't just steal from her.

I have to pit you against your mom and your wife, and ask, who is the best cook?

Oh, I'm definitely the best cook out of the three. They won't even try to deny it. My food has a lot more flavour profile to it. I attribute that to having a really unique palate.

Is there anything you haven't mastered in Italian cooking?

I don't consider myself a master. At the end of the day, nothing brings families together like food, but sometimes people get in a rut. Take my wife, great cook, but she makes the same stuff every week. So I want the book to make people think,

'You know what? Instead of making plain veal cutlets, I'm gonna make Veal Saltimbocca. Let me try something new'.

Aside from Italian, what else do you like to cook?

My favourite is probably Asian.

Are we going to get a Cooking Chinese with Buddy book?

don't know about cooking Chinese, but Buddy can make some damn good fried rice.

Merry minstrels hit the right note

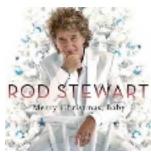

The holidays are almost upon us. While many feel the first snowfall signifies the festive season's advent, though, the more musically inclined know that the release of yuletide albums mark its true arrival.

At that, this year there are plenty of minstrels primed to make us feel quite merry.

make us feel quite merry.
Legendary rocker Rod
Stewart issues Merry Christmas, Baby (Warner), his first-ever holiday record. An interesting affair, it offers standards (Auld Lang Syne, White Christmas), duets (We Three Kings with Mary J. Blige and What Are You Doing New Year's Eve? accompanied by Ella Fitzgerald) and oddball tracks such as Red-Suited Super Man.

Lady Antebellum has also released its first holiday-themed collection this year. Dubbed On This Winter's Night (EMI), it boasts the country trio taking on 12 favourites such as, A Holly Jolly Christmas, Let It Snow, and Silver Bells.

Not to be outdone in the genre, revered twangy vocalist Blake Shelton has also compiled his own slew of tracks. In fact, Cheers, It's Christmas (Warner) has already hit No. 1 on Billboard's Holiday Albums chart thanks to his efforts on Jingle Bell Rock and Let It Snow! Let It Snow! Let It Snow!

For a touch more upbeat fun, check out famed soul, hip-hop and R&B singer Cee Lo Green's inaugural Christmas collection. Blending original tunes with carefully-selected covers, Cee Lo's Magic Moment (Atlantic) treats us to What Christmas Means To Me, You're A Mean One, Mr. Grinch featuring Straight No Chaser and, most impressively, All I Need Is Love backed by none other than The Muppets.

Diversity is the key behind Universal Music's Holidays

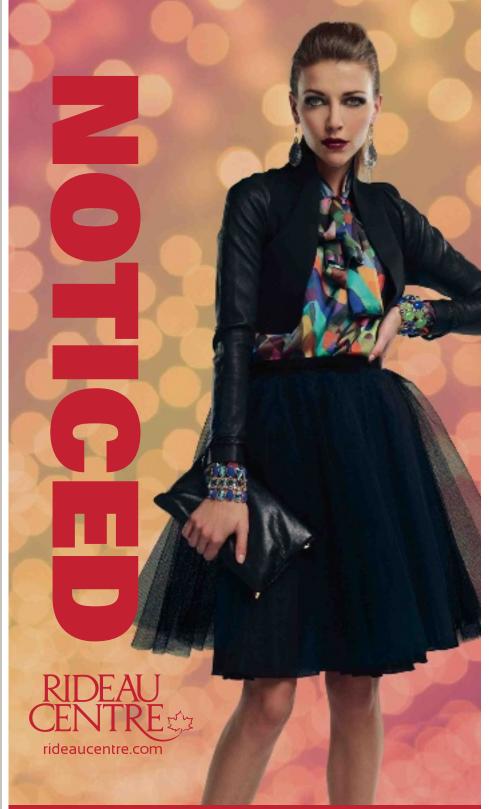

Rule compilation. Endeavouring to create a mixed bag that works well as background fodder for your inevitable party, its 17 new and beloved songs are performed by artists including Rufus Wainwright, Paul McCartney, Calexico, Y la Bamba, Punch Brothers and The Shins.

Sometimes we need to hear an extraordinary set of pipes really belt it out, though. Thankfully, we've got a few true crooners who have stepped up to the mistle-toe, prepared to kiss our ears with their velvety voices.

Opera star Katherine Jenkins' This is Christmas (Universal) will surely soothe the seasonal beast thanks to her silky singing. From The Christmas Song (Chestnuts Roasting On An Open Fire) through Santa Baby and Deck The Halls to Hark The Herald Angels Sing, one can bet this blonde bombshell is at her best.

Need a little more Canadian spirit in your seasonal celebration? Fear not. Michael Bublé will happily oblige with his pointedly-titled Christmas (Reprise), a bastion of 15 holiday-heavy tunes ranging from It's Beginning To Look A Lot Like Christmas to Santa Claus Is Coming To Town and I'll Be Home For Christmas. Cabrera MVP win a nod to old-school numbers

MLB. Triple Crown winner claims AL MVP honour by wide margin over Angels rookie Mike Trout

Miguel Cabrera has a most valuable player award to go with his Triple Crown. And Buster Posey has an MVP prize to put alongside his second World Series ring.

The pair of batting champions won baseball's top individual honours Thursday by large margins.

Cabrera, the first Triple Crown winner in 45 years, won the AL MVP by receiving 22 of 28 first-place votes and 362 points from a Baseball Writers' Association of America panel. The Detroit third baseman easily beat Los Angeles Angels rookie centre-fielder Mike Trout, who had six firsts and 281 points.

Some of the more sabermetric-focused fans supported Trout, who hit .326 with 30 homers and 83 RBIs, and he led the majors with 129 runs and 49 steals and topped all players in WAR — wins above replacement.

Trout won AL rookie of the year earlier in the week.

"I was a little concerned.
I thought the new thing about computer stuff, I thought Trout's going to win because they put his numbers over me," Cabrera said. "I was like relax.... If he wins, it's going to be fair because he had a great season."

His victory is a win for the traditional statistics.

Triple Crown tradition

Cabrera hit .330 with 44 homers and 139 RBIs to become the first Triple Crown winner since Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in 1967.

- The last four Triple Crown winners have been voted MVP, including Mickey Mantle in 1956 and Frank Robinson in 1966.
- Cabrera also led the league with a .606 slugging percentage for the AL champion Tigers.

"At the end of the game, it's going to be the same baseball played back in the day," Cabrera said.

Posey, at a charity event at his mother's school in Leesburg, Va., followed the AL debate and Googled to find out the winner.

"I think it intrigued everybody," he said. "As a fan of the game, it was a fun race to watch."

With three fewer hits or two less homers, Cabrera would have fallen short of the Triple Crown.

"I think winning the Triple Crown had a lot to do with me winning this honour," he said.

Cabrera became the second straight Detroit player voted MVP, following pitcher Justin Verlander in 2011, and was the first Venezuelan to earn the honour.

Countryman Pablo Sandoval took home World Series MVP honours last month. The Associated press

NBA. Injury bug has bitten the Raptors hard

The picture is not pretty but at least it's now clear for the Raptors.

Kyle Lowry will miss another week or two with a bruised cuboid in his ankle, Alan Anderson will be sidelined three to six weeks with a partially torn plantar fascia in his foot and Landry Fields will be out indefinitely after he had surgery to move a nerve near his left elbow.

It is far from the best medical news the 2-6 team could have received, but at least there are far fewer questions to ask today.

to find his comfort zone UFC. Fight in Montreal is the welterweight champion's first since Georges St-Pierre may be fighting at home this weekend, but he's not sleeping in his own bed.

April last year

The UFC welterweight champion has moved into a hotel, leaving the comforts of home ahead of Saturday night's UFC 154 main event with interim title-holder Carlos (Natural Born Killer) Condit at the Bell Centre.

He wants no part of the hometown feeling, other than to have friends and family in the stands.

"I want to feel like it's another fight, like normal," he

The move has cut into his privacy. Fans in the lobby have pretty much restricted his ability to leave his hotel room. But that plays into another priority ahead of the fight.

"At this time, I try to isolate myself, not get sick - not catch any cold or stuff like that. Stay very focused on the main goal," St-Pierre told reporters.

St-Pierre leaves home

The fight is the first for St-Pierre (22-2) since April 2011 when he beat Jake Shields. He underwent reconstructive surgery after injuring his knee in training last fall.

Condit (28-5) defeated Nick Diaz in February to claim the interim title during St-Pierre's injury layoff.

After Friday's weigh-in, when he has to make 170 pounds, St-Pierre's immediate plan is to "eat and drink." Ice cream is high on his priority

Both main-event fighters attended a public workout at a local nightclub Thursday, although St-Pierre did little other than sign autographs and give fans some training gear.

He says his training is done for the fight so it makes no sense having a session just for show. Using golf as a metaphor, he says he has already hit the ball. It's in the air and he can't influence it any more.

"Even if I were to do 100 push-ups, I'm not going to get any stronger," he said. "So it's all in the mind. My training is done.

"There is nothing I can do to be stronger, sharper, better than I am. The only thing I can change is my mind, so I try to stay positive and enjoy every second of it. Even though there is a lot of stress."

CFL's final assessment

The Argonauts head into hostile and hectic territory and the Stampeders travel to Vancouver minus their No. 1 pivot, with spots in the Grey Cup game on the line

East final

Toronto at Montreal, Sunday, 1 p.m. (TSN) Here's something the Toronto Argos don't face every day — crowd noise, and lots of it. The more than 40.000 rabid

Argos in both official languages, rattling the Big O's creaky rafters and making things difficult for Argos quarterback Ricky Ray and the Double Blue offence.

The Argos have survived and, in fact, thrived in similar noisy atmospheres this season. Toronto escaped Hamilton's ear-piercing Ivor Wynne Stadium with a win on Labour Day. The Argos also emerged from rowdy Taylor Field in Regina to secure a win and second place in the East and their first home playoff game since 2007.

To prepare for Sunday's Thunderdome experience, the Argos have been practising with noise piped into Toronto's Rogers Centre in anticipation of the real thing on Sunday.

Season series: Toronto slipped past the Als 23-20 in Week 5, with Ricky Ray throwing two TD passes. Montreal trounced the Argos 31-10 in Week 13 when Ray left the game early with a knee injury, while also beating the Argos 24-12 in Week 16.

Pick: Toronto by 3.

West final

Calgary at B.C., Sunday, 4:30 p.m. (TSN)

They were worried about his forehead just a couple of days ago, and now Drew Tate's forearm is causing headaches in Calgary.

The Stampeders quarterback is out for the rest of the season with a fractured right forearm, giving way to Kevin Glenn in Sunday's West final in Vancouver.

Tate arrived at practice Thursday with a cast on his throwing arm, just days after suffering an apparent concussion in the Stamps' 36-30 West semifinal win over Saskatchewan. Although Tate's head received a clean bill of health, he underwent an MRI and CAT scan Tuesday when the small fracture was discovered in his throwing arm, sidelining him for the biggest game of the year.

"We won 10 out of the last 12. Kevin started eight of those wins, so we'll just move on," Stampeders coach John Hufnagel told the assembled media in Calgary.

Tate said he suffered the fracture in the third quarter of the win over the Roughriders.

the Roughriders.
It's a frustrating setback for Tate, who missed 14 games this season with a dislocated shoulder after being tackled in Week 2. Glenn led the Stamps offence during Tate's absence, directing Calgary to a second-place finish in the West.

Season series: The Lions thumped the Stamps 34-8 in Week 5 in Calgary, and followed that win with a slim 27-22 victory in Vancouver

↑ Aries

March 21 - April 20

The more someone tries to blackmail you emotionally, the more you must resist. If you give in to them once, you will be expected to give in again and again. Don't let them intimidate you, today or any other day.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

This will be a hectic day, the kind when you always seem to be playing catch-up. But you will reach your goal in the end, so keep going. One of the strengths of your sign is your stubbornness — you refuse to be beaten.

ll Gemini

May 22 - June 21

There is a time to be secretive and a time to be open and this is definitely one of the latter. If you share a problem today it, won't be a problem for long. If you keep it to yourself though, you may never resolve it.

9 Cancer

June 22 - July 23

If you go to extremes, the consequences could be painful. Saturn in Scorpio warns that where both creative endeavors and affairs of the heart are concerned, you should stay on the straight and narrow.

Ω Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

If you don't want to get involved in what others are planning, you must let them know immediately. If you keep quiet, they will take that as a sign that you approve and soon vou won't be able to back out.

MP Virgo Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

If you want something, you will have to go out and get it for yourself. You cannot trust other people to bring it to your door, even if they promised to do so. And if they won't help, why should you share?

△ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

If someone in a position of authority gives you a hard time for no good reason today, the best thing to do is take it. The planets warn that they want you to respond so they can escalate the situation.

PLAY

M Scorpio Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Some people like to boast about what they are going to do. You prefer to say nothing and just get on and do it. The less noise you make about your plans today, the more likely it is they will succeed.

₹ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Whatever odds you face today, either at work or in your personal affairs, you must not be intimidated. Fortunately you are a very good actor: You may be scared on the inside but on the outside you appear utterly fearless.

17 Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You will meet someone today whose attitude and beliefs are about as different to yours as is possible. They say opposites attract and it is quite likely that the pair of you will form a long-lasting bond.

≫ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You may be tempted to double up on your workload and get everything finished as quickly as possible but is that really such a good idea? Quality work is always preferable to quantity, so take your time.

H Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Set your sights high then go even higher. There is little, if anything, that is beyond your reach at the moment, so don't put up with average. Strive to be the biggest and the best at what you are good at. SALLY BROMPTON
